

The ENGLISH HOME

New bespoke chair service by designer Rachel Bates

English Home Journal

This beauty first caught our eye during London Design Week – the Horatio bespoke chair by Rachel Bates, which each customer can personalise at no extra cost.

Guided by Rachel's interior design team, each customer can choose the upholstery fabrics and trimmings, the silk button tufts, the piping and the length and material of the legs for either a carver-style or dining chair, ensuring that the finished chair will blend beautifully with their home decor.

Manufactured and upholstered by skilled UK craftsmen, each bespoke chair will be ready for delivery in seven to eight weeks, costing from £1,400.

These chairs were designed by Rachel taking inspiration from elements that she loves from Edwardian and Victorian armchairs in her own home.

Fabric choices include the likes of Nina Campbell, Colefax and Fowler, Mulberry, Missoni and Linwood, plus a range of piping by Samuel & Sons.

The customisable Horatio chairs are available to order from online boutique Rachel Bates Elegantly Curated, which also sells crystal and glassware, porcelain ranges, furniture, art, paint collections, rugs and other luxurious interiors accessories.

For more details, click here.

Like this article

